

Internship in the volunteer department at Distortion

We are looking for an ambitious intern who will help create a diverse street party and a world-class electronic music festival.

In the volunteer department, we focus on communicative work in relation to the recruitment of new volunteers, as well as coordination and planning of volunteer work during the festival week from 29 May to 2 June 2024. We work in teams and with external experts.

About you

You should apply if you would like to become better at:

- Communication to and recruitment of volunteers
- Recruitment and retention of volunteers, for example when planning social media and events
- Coordination with external associations and Distortion's own team leaders
- Project management and planning of the above tasks

Your qualifications:

- Project management and planning of the above tasks
- Communication both orally and in writing in Danish and English
- Sense of targeted communication
- Good at grasping the many ideas flying around and dare to contribute their own
- Service-minded and values the well-being of volunteers
- Enjoy working on your own for periods of time

About the secretariat

You will be part of a committed team of around 30 people at the festival office. Our team has a broad background in cultural life and advertising industry, and several have experience from teaching. We are divided into the departments: street party, communication, production and volunteering. We have weekly meetings, and we work across departments, but you will always have a permanent base in the communication department.

Application and internship conditions

- Application deadline: There are ongoing interviews, so send your application as soon as possible.
- Applications and questions must be sent to Nicola Hagen at nicola@nusnus.dk.
- Internship period: February to mid-June 2024 (can be adjusted according to your wishes).
- Place of work is our festival office on Refshaleøen, Refshalevej 167, 1432 København K.