

Intern in communication Department at NusNus

We are looking for two ambitious interns to help create a diverse street party and a world-class electronic music festival.

In the communications department at NusNus, we work with the festivals Distortion and Karrusel. We plan campaigns and execute them on our own and external platforms as well as mastering an international PR and marketing strategy. You will become an important part of a department where we focus on team work and where there is room for you to develop.

We are looking for two interns. One with a flair for copywriting and strategy and another with a flair for video and design. You must apply if you would like to become better at the tasks below.

Copywriting and strategy

- Elaboration of campaign strategy and idea development
- Text composition for use in PR and SoMe, including event and artist texts
- Dialogue with external partners about joint projects for the festival

Video and design

- Develop and execute visual identities
- Idea and production of content, including: video, illustration, graphics for SoMe and website

You will be part of a lively secretariat of around 30 employees. We have a broad background within the culture, fashion and advertising industry. We are divided into the departments street party, communication, production and volunteering.

Distortion takes place from 4–8. June 2025 and Karrusel from 28–30 August 2025. It is not mandatory that you work with both festivals.
